The Effective Utilization of Dialectical Behavioral Therapy in Group Work

This workshop will educate participants as to the core concepts as they relate to Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT). DBT is an evidence-based practice, which has a great applicability with numerous populations. While many clinicians may feel comfortable in applying this skill in individual sessions, some clinicians may feel less comfortable applying it while working with groups. This workshop will provide support and techniques on how to use DBT effectively in groups on an ongoing basis.

Foundations of Clinical Supervision
Clinical Supervision, when properly implemented, improves client care, develops clinical skills, and improves the knowledge and professionalism of clinical personnel. It is paramount in imparting and maintaining ethical standards in the addictions profession.

This 30-hour workshop combines an on-line and in-person training developed by the Addiction Technology Transfer Center. The workshop, will meet the thirty hour (30) Clinical Supervision training requirement for the Advanced Counselor and Master Counselor status in the OASAS Substance Use Disorder Scopes of Practice area. This course is in two modules- the first being a 14-hour online course that discusses the theory of clinical Supervision and the second a 16-hour in person class instruction.

Participants must meet the pre-requisite online 14-hour course prior to registering for the in person section. You will receive a link for the online portion once you register for the 16-hour workshop. You will need to provide the on-line certificate of completion on the first day of training.
